

Have you seen my white horse?

Picture this: a roaring fire, soft music, red roses and a fine bottle of wine. How does that sound? Now, add you and me into this scene. We are sitting at a quiet, candle-lit table, just the two of us. What can be better than that? Well, let's see... how about sharing espresso at a small café in Paris under the Eiffel Tower or sipping champagne from the balcony of our resort in Bali Bali with a gorgeous view of the Indian Ocean?

Ok, I have to admit that I'm a hopeless romantic. If I had a horse, it would be white, and I would sweep you off your feet and carry you safely wherever you wanted to go. We could travel down the street to the local ice cream shop or across the world to your dream destination. I want to look at you and my world comes together. And don't worry, you can always lean on me—my big heart will take care of you, support you and love you.

My fun-loving side is one of my best features probably because I'm so easy going and laid back. My smile seems to put everyone at ease. I am very lucky in that I have been all over the world and have good friends in many countries. I would love to travel with my special someone by my side, especially to places like China, Brazil, St. Petersburg and Alaska. I'm looking forward to creating lasting memories as we explore new places and things.

My perfect match is also looking for a serious and meaningful relationship, just like me. She enjoys being pampered and is not too shy to hold hands or sneak a quick kiss. I want to look into her eyes and see her passion for life and immense capacity for love. She takes care of herself, enjoys stimulating conversation and has a great sense of humor. So, get ready to climb atop my white horse and we'll gallop away into the sunset!

Roses are red, violets are blue, I have a big heart, and it's all for you!

Love is not just about finding a partner; it's also about being a good one. I think my best feature is my big heart, probably because I'm a very open and giving person. I believe that small gestures go a long way and can make a difference in a special someone's day. It could be as simple as surprising him with his favorite breakfast, rubbing in suntan lotion on his back or renting his favorite movie for a night. Whatever it is, I will show him every day that he is my main focus and will never take his love for granted.

Traveling is one of my favorite things to do. I have visited Paris, India, the Caribbean, Mexico, Canada and most of the US states, including Alaska. Some of my vacations are all about relaxing on the beach or a cruise ship deck, and others are about being more active in the outdoors such as sea kayaking, riding horses and hiking. When I'm home, I spend time with my close friends. We always have fun together, no matter what we do. We often end up at my place cooking a delicious dinner and relaxing afterwards with coffee and conversation. Other times, we check out a great new restaurant. If the weather is nice, we spend an afternoon at the lake on the pontoon soaking up the rays. When I need some "me" time, you might find me sipping pinot grigio on the deck or in a hot tub looking up at a gorgeous snow-covered mountain.

Like me, my perfect match surrounds himself with close, meaningful friends. He loves to laugh, is easy going and down to earth. His wide smile stretches across his whole face—from his twinkling eyes to his subtle laugh lines. He is established in his career and financially stable. Of course, if he likes to dig his toes into the sand on some sunny beach while we watch the waves crash, I'm ready for him to steal my heart! Let's take a chance and connect.

Just wrap me in foil and I'll be your knight in shining armor!

As an avid rock climber, I've learned that there are several routes you can take to get to the top and that, at times, the one you thought was the easiest turned out to be the toughest. Likewise with dating, the path to love can be a breeze in parts and challenging in others. But, when you have your heart set on a goal, you will take risks and give it your all to reach it. One of my goals is to follow in the footsteps of my parents who have been married for over 40 years.

Variety is the spice of life for me. I am comfortable off-roading in the morning and visiting an art gallery in the evening. I know it seems like polar opposites, but I'm completely okay wearing my cowboy hat to a family barbecue one night and a suit to a black-tie event the next. This is what keeps life interesting, gives it flavor and perhaps opens doors to discovering even better things.

Travel-wise, I have explored some incredible places such as Malta, Sicily, Italy, Monaco, France, Germany and Mexico as well as over a dozen states including sunny California. Closer to home, I spend a lot of time with my family celebrating anything from birthdays to anniversaries. My friends and I like to hang out and play video and board games or take in an action movie.

My perfect match is open-minded and venturesome. She keeps in shape and has a natural beauty. Her smile lights up a room. Like me, she believes in honesty, loyalty and romance. Most importantly, she sees marriage as a life-long commitment. So, if you are on the tall side and athletic with a gorgeous smile and blue or green eyes, let's connect. We'll start with an awesome date—a picnic in the park, a leisurely bike ride or... you name it!

Sit. Stay. Email me!

I love the simple things in life—laughing at a silly joke, watching the waves crash on the beach or just holding hands with my special someone. I think it's because I'm young at heart and have a happy outlook on life. I'm always looking to try something new—a new restaurant, a new hiking trail or a new recipe. But don't get me wrong—I speak my mind at times, but even that's from a place of love. I am just an ordinary person looking to share my life. And the timing couldn't be better. I am in tiptop shape and excellent health. I have the freedom to come and go as I please. My daughter is grown and has her own life. I'm very open to sharing adventures with someone new.

Keeping active is important to me, and I enjoy going places and seeing interesting things. In the past, I have traveled to Africa, Mexico, Europe, North Eastern US and Canada. Perhaps in the future I would visit Scotland and Wales with a partner by my side, but international trips are not so much a priority for me right now. What I would really like to do is explore the beautiful Sunshine Coast more. To keep fit, I do yoga, hike, swim, play golf and dance. My friends and family are a big part of my life. We get together as much as possible and share pots of coffee or potluck dinners over good conversation. When it's time to dial it down a notch, I do some quilting, watch a good movie or take the dog for a long walk.

I love with all my heart and seeking a man with the same outlook. Besides being a dog lover, my perfect match is interested in all life has to offer. He has old-fashioned manners and a sense of humour. He's comfortable in jeans and a t-shirt in the morning and a suit and tie in the evening. While he speaks his mind, it's not in a hurtful way. Our partnership is based on nurturing each other. Most importantly, he's someone who will love me for who I am. If you want to meet a nice lady with a nice dog, let's connect!
